Presbyterian Homes Names New President and CEO

25 October 2010

Evanston, IL– Presbyterian Homes, Evanston-based owner-operator of eight retirement communities in the North and Northwest suburbs and Chicago, is announcing the appointment of Todd F. Swortzel as president and CEO effective January 1, 2011.

Upon accepting the appointment Mr. Swortzel said, “My wife Melissa and I are looking forward to joining Presbyterian Homes and are very excited to become part of a wonderful organization with both a rich history and future vision of service to the community.”

Prior to joining Presbyterian Homes, Mr. Swortzel served as president and CEO of Baptist Homes Society, Inc. (BHS) in Pittsburgh, PA. BHS operates two continuing care retirement communities (CCRC) and a supporting foundation. Under his leadership, BHS developed Providence Point, a new CCRC. Before that, Mr. Swortzel was executive director of Virginia Baptist Homes, a multi-site provider operating four CCRCs in Virginia. He holds a master of science in Health Administration from the Medical College of Virginia at Virginia Commonwealth University and a bachelor of business administration from Averett University.

Ed James, chair of the Presbyterian Homes board of directors, states “Todd’s outstanding record of leadership of several faith-based organizations with strong social missions makes him uniquely qualified to guide Presbyterian Homes as it continues to seek and achieve excellence in its service to residents, patients, employees and the larger community. We are extremely pleased to have Todd leading our organization, and we extend a warm welcome to him and his wife Melissa.”
